To Whom It May Concern:

I have known of the life-changing work of ANASAZI Foundation and its founders, Ezekiel Sanchez and Larry Olsen, for many years. Through their programs, thousands of families have been blessed. ANASAZI uses the great outdoors, caring staff, and the principles I believe in to facilitate a change of heart.

I recently wrote The 8th Habit: From Effectiveness to Greatness about the importance of finding your voice and inspiring others to find theirs. Ezekiel and Larry not only espouse this principle, they live it in all they do at ANASAZI Foundation. Finding one's voice is the central element of the ANASAZI Way—as participants find their self-worth and potential to make a difference and in their own lives, families and communities.

For those seeking help for a struggling son or daughter or to enrich a marriage and family, ANASAZI is a marvelous place for a new beginning.

Sincerely,

Stephen R. Covey
